GIT
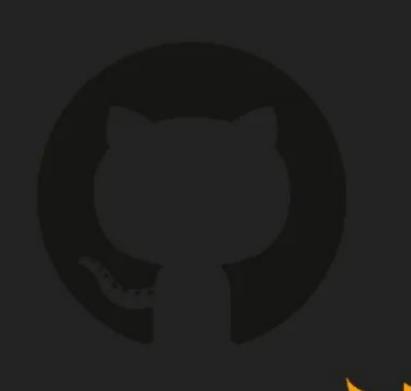

VS

GITHUB

GIT is a Software.

GitHub is a Service.

Git is a version control system to manage source code history

GitHub is a hosting service for Git repositories.

Git is maintained by linux.

GitHub is maintained by Microsoft.

Git is installed locally on the system

GitHub is hosted on the web.

Git has no user management feature.

GitHub has a built-in user management features.

Git is open-source licensed.

GitHub includes a free-tier and pay-for-use tier.

Git has minimal external tool configuration.

GitHub has an active marketplace for tool integration.